The Daily Courant.

Tuesday, June 26. 1705.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated June 23.

Vienna, June 10.

THE Emperor has order'd the Estates of the upper Austria to pay into the Imperial Treasury 4 Millions of Florins, in a Month's Time. The like Demand will be made very shortly of the other Hereditary Provinces, proportionably to their different Abilities. In this manner 'tis propos'd to raise very large Sums, for maintaining the Army in Italy. Germany, and Hungary, which last will be considerably reinforc'd. The 3d of this Month Baron Zeltern and Count Philip of Zinzendorf were put into Possession of the Office of joynt Chancellors of the Court of Austria: The Prince of Salm, the Emperor's first Minister, conducted them to the Chancery, where they took the Oaths required. Count Buccellini, who singly had their Office, is to receive for 3 Years the Incomes of a Lordship in Tirol, that brings in 20000 Florins yearly. Count Wallenstein, lately Ambassador in Portugal, is declar'd chief Marshal of the Court. Several more Alterations at Court are expected, and we flatter our selves they will prove advantagious to the Government and to the common Cause. The 7th Instant Prince Eugene's Secretary went from hence, with Remittances to a great Sum for the Army commanded by that Prince.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated June 23.

Vienna, June 10. The 6th of this Month Baron Globen Lieutenant Collonel of the Regiment of Gronsfeldt arriv'd here Post from Hungary, with Advice that the 28th of last Month at Day-breack, 3000 Malecontents commanded by Bothiani, attack'd the Fort of Fuldwahr with great Fury; but were beaten off by the Garrison, and oblig'd to retire to Pax, whither they had carried the Prisoners and Booty they took in a Ravage they lately made about Buda and Gran. We have since Advice from other Hands, that the Malecontents have block'd up great Waradin with several Thousand Men: That Oskay who command the Body of Malecontents that is at Malosko, has caus'd several great Trees to be fell'd, designing to let the heavy Timber drive down the Marck to break the Bridge the Imperialists have at Anger; and that he threatens to make an Irruption into Moravia or the lower Austria. The main Body of the Imperial Forces in Hungary continues in the Island Schut; and General Erbeville, who has his Head Quarters at Comorra, is disposing all things to enter upon Action against the Malecontents, assoon as he has receiv'd the Reinforcements promis'd him.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated June 25.

Vienna, June 13. General Erbeville, and Prince Esterhasi Palatine of Hungary, are at present at Presburg, where they wait for the final Resolutions of the Malecontents, on the last Propolals of Accomodation made to them on the Part of the Emperor. In the mean Time, the Preparations are continued for acting against them with the utmost Vigour, if they refuse to come to Terms; to which End, not only the 5 Regiments of Danes are sent for from the upper Palatinat; but 6000 Prussians that are taken into his Imperial Majesty's Service are likewise design'd to reinforce our Army in Hungary. 12000 Rascians are drawn together at Esseck, and are to be commanded by General Nehm. Great Store of Corn and Hay, is daily sent from hence to Comorra and Presburg, for the Subsistance of the Imperial Troops.

From the Amsterdam Gazette. June 23.

Amsterdam, June 23. While they are in Expectation at Vienna, of the final Answer of the Malecontents of Hungary, they write from Paris the Court of France is in hopes there will be no Accomodation; which Hopes are founded on Advices they had receiv'd, that Prince Ragotski being inform'd of the Death of the Emperor Leopold, held a Council with the chief Malecontents, in which it was resolv'd and Sworn, not to hearken to any private Propolals from the Court of Vienna, that might tend to disunite them; nor to lay down Arms till the Grievances of the Nation, and of the Body of the Nobility should be actually redress'd; till the Kingdom should be restor'd to its ancient Rights and Privileges, the Affairs of Religion settled, some of the Monks and Clergy expell'd the Country, and the Nation re-establish'd in the Power of freely electing their Kings, by annulling all the Resolutions to the contrary that pass'd in the Diet of 1687.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated June 27.

Vienna, June 13. The King of Sweden has written a Letter to the Emperor dated May 24, in which he condoles the Death of his Father Leopold, and congratulates him on his Accession to the Throne. We are very well assur'd the common People of the Malecontents in Hungary are thoroughly inclin'd to an Accomodation, but the Leaders and principal Men of them shew a quite contrary Disposition, whence we conclude they are under strong Engagements to France: Mean Time, they have sent their best Effects towards the Frontier of Poland, propoſing to retire with them into that Kingdam, if by bad Fortune or by the vulgar Herd of the Malecontents abandoning them, they should be driven to it. the Emperor has resolv'd that no Man shall hold 2 Offices. 'Tis talk'd a great Reform will be made among the Officers, and that those who shall be continued in their Places will be oblig'd to pay a Year's Salary. The Emperor has appointed the Count of Wallenstein and the Duke of Moles to take Cognizance of the Affairs of Spain, Count Martinitz of those of Rome, Baron Zeltern and Count Wratislaw of those of England, Holland, and Bohemia; and this Distribution is made known to the forreign Ministers, that they may address themselves accordingly to the proper Minister, and be dispatch'd with the greater Expedition.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated June 30.

Vienna, June 17. Yesterday we receiv'd Advice from Arath, that a Body of Rascians having pass'd the Kerez over a Bridge which they had laid near Tur, attack'd Captain Tekeli, who was intrench'd in the Church-yard of Kungeohaza, with 1200 Horse and 2000 Foot, Malecontents; and that with so great Success, that the Malecontents were put to the Route, above 200 of them being kill'd on the Spot, and 35 taken Prisoners with 5 Pieces of Cannon, and 60 Waggons loaded with Ammunition and Provisions: But, Count Caroli, who was at no great Distance from Kungeohaza, sending 2000 Men to cut off the Retreat of the Rascians, they got up with them as they were repassing the Kerez, put them into Disorder, kill'd 38 of them, and retook 3 of the Cannon

we mention'd, with ſome of the Booty. The Priſoners the Raſcians carried off in this Action, ſay, that the Body of Troops under Count Caroli is to be reinforc'd to 12000 Men; and that he talks of doing no leſs than taking Giula, Jena, Arath, Great Waradin, and all the Forts ſituate between the Tibiſcus and the Maros: But this is look'd upon as a Rhodomontade.

London, June 26.

'The Speaker of the Houſe of Commons of Ireland, made the following Speech to his Grace the Lord Lieutenant, on Saturday the 16th of June, at preſenting the Money Bill for the Royal Aſſent.

May it pleaſe Your Grace,

THE Commons having gone through thoſe Bills which according to the Conſtitution of this Kingdom, they have a proſpect of ſeeing paſt into Laws this Seſſion, preſent themſelves (in Obedience to Your Grace's Pleaſure') as Witneſſes to their receiving Life by the Royal Aſſent.

They moſt Gratefully own, that thoſe Bills which have been Tranſmitned this Seſſion to be paſt into Laws, are Inſtances of Her Majeſty's Goodneſs to them and of Your Grace's Care; and by taking Notice in their Addreſſes that they are many, they expreſs their great Inclinations to Publiſh to the World the juſt Senſe they have of the Favours of a Prince, from whom they, all Her Subjects, and Europe in general promiſe to themſelves the greateſt Bleſſings.

And to ſhew themſelves not wholly undeſerviug Her Majeſty's Royal Care and Protection, they have declared their firm Loyalty to the Crown, and Adherence to the Succeſſion and Religion by Law Eſtabliſhed, in the moſt Publick Manner: And have endeavoured to prevent all Malicious Aſperſions on the Eſtabliſh'd Church, and whatever elſe may create or promote Diviſions and Miſunderſtandings among Proteſtants.

Theſe Reſolves, (if not neceſſary to remove ſome Enemies of our Peace already among us) will however Convince thoſe Abroad, that the ſame Unanimity againſt the Enemies of our Religion, Laws and Liberties, ſtill continues in the Breaſts of Proteſtants, (though of different Perſwaſions in other Matters) that eminently ſhewed it ſelf in their Joint and Brave Defence of London-Derry and Inniskillin.

Nor doth the Expreſſion of the Duty and Affection of Her Majeſty's Loyal Subjects End in Words only: The extream Poverty of the Kingdom hinders not the Granting ſufficient Funds for the Honourable Support and Juſt Payment of the Eſtabliſhment, inſomuch that our more happy Neighbours (taking that to be a Meaſure of our Wealth and Proſperity, which is in Truth only the Reſult of a fixed Principle in us, never to refuſe Supplies while the Crown wants, and the Country can give) perſwade themſelves the Kingdom is in a Flouriſhing Condition, ſince it's Aids are ſo great, and its Complaints either none or very few.

But this, and whatever is in the Power of Her Majeſty's moſt faithful Subjects the Commons, is juſtly Due to the beſt of Queens, whoſe Victorious Arms have ſhaken the United Powers of two Kingdoms, each of which within the ſpace of one Age aſpir'd at Univerſal Monarchy.

The Progreſs of Her Majeſty'e Troops, promiſes to open a more beneficial Trade with Spain than any this Nation is yet poſſeſs'd of; and there appear fair Hopes, That another Campagne like the laſt in Germany will oblige that Prince to Sue for Peace, who hath hitherto refus'd to allow a Safe and Honourable one to Chriſtendom.

May it pleaſe Your Grace,

Raiſed by theſe Hopes, and out of the profoundeſt Duty to Her Majeſty, and higheſt Zeal for the Honour and Support of Her Majeſty's Government, the Commons have Granted an Aid to Her Majeſty, by paſſing a Bill, Entituled, An Act for Granting to Her Majeſty, An Additional Duty on Beer, Ale, Strong-Waters, Tobacco, Callicoes, Linnens, Muſlins, and other Goods and Merchandiſes.
